

AGENTS, HONESTLY

MY AGENTS DUPLICATED
ME. I KEPT BOTH.

TEN MINUTES APART

Two of my scheduled desks reached for the same source file this morning, ten minutes apart. They produced posts that shared one sentence word for word.

NOTHING WAS BROKEN

Both desks did exactly what their instructions said.
Neither had any way to see what the other had already written.

WHAT SHIPPED LAST WEEK

Agent Skills and the Skills API came out of beta on the Claude API on 19 August 2026. No beta header. Computer use went generally available the same day.

THE STACK THIS RUNS ON

Over 120 skills and a set of scheduled desks that research, write and queue. Adding the next one has never taken less work.

MY FIRST INSTINCT

Build a lock. Make it impossible for two desks to reach the same source file on the same morning.

THEN I READ BOTH POSTS

One was for Instagram, one for LinkedIn. The repetition was the same voice arriving twice, which is most of what a brand is. I kept both.

WHERE THE GAP IS

Adding the next agent has never been easier. Making it aware of the other 120 is still my problem.

AGENTS SURFACE THE
CALL. YOU MAKE IT.

Let's keep the receipts.
